

Passwords are the keys to unlocking the world of technology but these keys, if not meticulously selected, can pose real safety issues to our online identity. With all the hacking and phishing that is taking place in the world wide web, it behoves us as teachers and educators to instruct our kids on the importance of using strong passwords.

4% use the same password on the web

By Derek dearing